I have the date "06/06/2012" (or the number 6, 2006, or June 6, 2012) as input. I want to convert it to Unix time format (with timezone offset of UTC, as the input is in UTC). What is the correct Unix time format for this? I need a general formula for obtaining the Unix time from given date string. I understand that the result will be a number (int or long) that represents the number of seconds since January 1, 1970, 00:00:00 UTC. But what is the correct way to format the date string as Unix time (with the UTC timezone offset)? The easiest way to get the time zone offset is to call the Python module datetime.utils.get_tzinfo(). So for the date string "06/06/2012" I get the time zone offset of -7200. A: There's a wonderful function called datetime.strptime which takes a string representing a date in the given format, and returns a datetime object. Once you have the datetime object, converting it to 09e8f5149f

Have you ever wished you could make your Android phone to speak like you? It's not an easy task as you must install an Android Speech Recognition application that will do the hard work for you. With the Google Speech Recognition, you don't need to install any other Android applications to do a speech recognition. You can also analyze your voice using the Google speech recognition software. If your Android device does not have a built-in microphone or if you have a smartphone with a built-in microphone, you might want to consider purchasing an external microphone. What is the difference between the Built in and the external Microphone? The Built in Microphone is used by the phone to record your voice and this can be referred to as the internal or the native mic. The external microphone is another microphone which you can use to listen to your voice and this is referred to as the External microphone. The Built in Microphone use acoustics and it converts your voice to electrical signals. It records sounds that may have low or high intensity and tone. The external microphone is different, it records outside sounds which can be any type of sound you like, like the telephone, the plane, the car, the wind etc. You can also use the different types of microphones for a different type of sounds. Voice Recognition. Voice Recognition is the process of identifying the words spoken by the user and converting it to words and text. It is also known as Speech Recognition. The technology behind Voice Recognition is called Automatic Speech Recognition. If you want to enhance your Android, you must get an application to recognize your voice. Why do I need to use Voice Recognition? If you want to communicate with the mobile phone using a voice, you would need to install a speech recognition application. By using Speech Recognition you can see what your phone is able to say. It converts the voice to text. Before installing the Voice Recognition application on your phone, you should first have a clear idea of what you want to achieve with the voice recognition. When talking to your phone or to your tablet, you are asking it to do something. For example, if you want to speak to your phone and want it to play a particular song, you are asking it to do something. If you want it to play a song you have recorded in mp3 format, then you are asking it to do something else. You should take the time to consider what you

This may not be the best marble game out there but who said video games have to be serious. Marble Madness Tournament is sure to put a smile on your face, it has hundreds of levels, different styles of themes and innovative game modes. Play the game for yourself to see just how far you can get. I need a YouTube player with step-by-step functions. Marble Madness Tournament has hundreds of levels, different styles of themes and innovative game modes. Play the game for yourself to see just how far you can get. • Action / Arcade • Lots of Levels • Epic High Scores • 10 Player Multiplayer • A ton of content • Must have Fullscreen effects The project consists in fully re-writing the logic of Marble Madness Tournament so that, as much as possible, it runs without the Playboy cartoons. A great starting point would be the following: Pull the "Marble Madness Tournament" source code, and make use of the google-imag, google-maps and google-calendar libraries available in the official PYPI repository. For a second pass of the rewrite, add -flfr to the launch command. More Custom Marble Mania Levels - not ported from original I'm a developer of Google Play Games Marble Mania, Game Maker (Game Studio), and other digital games, and this is my first - and I hope successful - attempt to port Marble Madness to an Android device. If you like original game and want more Marble Madness levels, please support me. Empire of Delusions (and dreams) - lol Been playing this game for like 3 years now and it's starting to get a bit boring

System Requirements:

Here's a quick video explaining how to install Gratuitous Space Battles on Steam. The game uses native Steamworks so there are no additional installs. The game is PC-only and will only run on computers with at least 1 gigahertz of RAM. Note: If you intend to play multiplayer, you must use the Windows Steam Cloud. There are third-party multiplayer options on the Steam store, but they require additional installations and configurations. Download and Install the game by double-clicking the.exe file
